

ParlAmericas Parliamentary Delegation to Washington

PRELIMINARY AGENDA

Democracy, Rights, and Development in the Americas: Parliamentary Perspectives for a Renewed Inter-American Agenda

March 16-20, 2026

Washington, D.C.

Democracy and diplomacy are essential foundations for peace, development, and human dignity across the Americas and the Caribbean. Yet rising political polarization fuelled by citizen frustrations, economic pressures, and a convergence of regional and global crises – amid rapid geopolitical shifts that are challenging established international frameworks and expectations – is placing long-standing mechanisms of cooperation and democratic governance under significant strain. In this context, the coinciding 25th anniversaries of ParlAmericas and the Inter-American Democratic Charter provide a timely opportunity to consider how a strengthened inter-American system, rooted in collaborative and resilient democracies, can foster regional security, inclusive and mutually beneficial development, and the well-being of all people.

Through interparliamentary consultations with member states and officials of the Organization of American States, as well as counterparts from the United States Congress, this year's ParlAmericas Delegation to Washington offers an opportunity for legislators from across the Americas and the Caribbean to advance a constructive dialogue and strengthen commitment to regional cooperation rooted in sovereignty and democratic governance, in order to deliver shared prosperity within and across nations.

09:00 - 10:00 Women, Peace and Security: Parliamentary Action for Inclusive and Sustainable Peace

This session will examine the Women, Peace and Security agenda as a critical dimension of democratic governance, sustainable peace, and inclusive development in the Americas and the Caribbean. Drawing on the expertise of the Inter-American Commission of Women, the discussion will engage parliamentarians in reflecting on how integrating a gender perspective into peace, security, and institutional responses strengthens democratic legitimacy, addresses multidimensional security challenges, and supports more equitable development outcomes. The dialogue will further explore the role of parliaments in advancing women's leadership and meaningful participation in security governance, and in aligning national legislative frameworks with hemispheric commitments.

10:00 - 10:15 Health break

10:15 - 12:15 Security and Institutional Cooperation: Insights from the Inter-American System

This session will provide parliamentarians with an opportunity to engage in a dialogue with the Secretariat for Multidimensional Security (SMS) on priority security challenges facing the hemisphere. The discussion will focus on the inter-American framework on firearms, including the implementation of Inter-American Convention against the Illicit Manufacturing of and Trafficking in Firearms, Ammunition, Explosives, and Other Related Materials (CIFTA), as well as selected elements of the Secretariat's drug policy portfolio, such as the Inter-American Drug Abuse Control

Commission (CICAD), examining how these areas intersect with legislative responsibilities.
