Recognizing the vital services ecosystems provide, this meeting will explore the potential of nature-based solutions to address environmental challenges and the role of parliaments in advancing their adoption. Discussions will focus on the core themes of the Rio Conventions: climate resilience, biodiversity conservation, and water and drought security. The meeting will also highlight their broader societal and economic benefits, including cost savings, improved public health, economic growth, social well-being, and gender equality.

Interpretation will be provided in English, Spanish, and Portuguese
